FÓRUM BRASILEIRO DE
SEGURANÇA PÚBLICA

Introduction

The Brazilian Forum on Public Safety is the main public security network in Brazil; its members are civil, military, federal and federal highway police officers, municipal guards, prosecutors, judges and from other fields under the justice system, as well as public administrators, activists and researchers.

In our 14-year history, we became a consolidated entity due to a plural character present in our DNA and our commitment to unrestricted defense of democracy and defense of human rights as pillars supporting public security policies. For us, public security requires efficient strategies to control fear, violence and crime, without affecting respect for citizenship and the rule of law.

In addition, we are a reference entity in terms of production of information and evidence about crime and violence, promoting quality debates at universities, activism of third sector entities, diagnoses and formulation of public policies by public administrators and police officers, and media coverage of related topics.

In 2019, we had the first year of implementation of the new strategic planning cycle, with a focus on issues such as the appreciation and working conditions of public security professionals, organized crime and prison system, reduction of lethal violence, addressing violence against girls and women, and ensuring transparency and governance in our daily work.

It was a year of intense work, with 16,376 mentions in media outlets, 85% of which without the presence of spokespersons linked with the BFPS, consolidating our brand as a source of data about security.

Also, we presented intense legislative activities, considering the direct impact that our entity has on discussions and proposals of public policies. To illustrate the dimension we've assumed, 120 proposed laws cited the BFPS in the Chamber of Deputies last year, in addition to being frequently mentioned in the speeches of deputies and senators and news produced made by the Congress.

In short, 2019 was marked by extensive work that resulted in the publication of analyses and studies, participation in events and the search for solutions. But, more than everything, it was also a period in which we reinforced our commitment to democracy, with the certainty that our political-electoral neutrality, the network operation model, and evidence-based action are powerful instruments for the defense of citizenship and life.

Strategic goals for 2019-2021

Since its creation, the BFPS has acted according to guidelines and values defined in its bylaws. Every three years, the BFPS defines a work plan in its strategic planning meetings with members of the executive team, the Board of Directors and the Fiscal Council and some external guests participate that contribute to fulfill expectations and challenges.

In 2018, the entity completed its planning for 2019-2021. The work plan recommends a cycle of projects with a view to achieving the goals and exploring opportunities of innovation and/or financial sustainability of the BFPS, comprising seven major thematic axes.

The BFPS has defined four ways to act on these priority themes. To a large extent, this definition comes from the profile of the technical team, the financing characteristics available in the third sector and opportunities with the public power. Depending on the theme, we work on one or more performance dimensions, which are:

- I) Political and institutional impact;
- II) Promotion of dialogue and public debate;
- III) Formulation and proposition of public policies;
- IV) Production of information and/or monitoring and evaluation.
